

What happens if I change my mind or I'm not able to stay in their community?

You can change your mind at any time during the process. If you have moved to the community and want to return to the facility, the Regional Transition Coordinator will assist you in locating a bed in the facility you left or in another facility. The Department for Medicaid Services (DMS) cannot guarantee that you can return to the actual bed or facility you leave.