From the Commissioner

Effective April 1st -- six years following the intake moratorium on the cash assistance available under the Kinship Care Program -- another phase of the new relative/fictive kin caregiver service array is lifting, a new child specific foster home. Relative and fictive kin caregivers who accept a child through placement facilitated by DCBS will now have a fuller menu of options from which to choose. The full disclosure process to be delivered by DCBS protection and permanency staff, and the new options menu, will empower the kin caregiver to make the best selections concerning the child’s custody, services, and permanency if a child cannot be reunified with the child’s home of origin. The selection process will allow for preferences of the kin caregiver and considerations of the child’s needs.

An unprecedented opportunity has been given to DCBS to better support the maintenance of families and reduced trauma to a child who needs to be removed from the child’s home of origin. The opportunity has been supported through the overall child welfare transformation efforts as charged by Governor Bevin and the First Lady, various legislative actions of the Kentucky General Assembly, and ongoing collaborative efforts with the courts. The service array, as proposed in DCBS administrative regulation and included in House Bill 2 enacted during the 2019 Regular Session, was informed by focus groups and surveys conducted in 2018, inputs from national experts, and state-to-state consultations. More is to come with the anticipated federal award of Federal Fiscal Year 2019 Kinship Navigator Grant funds, Kentucky’s early implementation of the Family First Prevention Services Act of 2018, and possible exercising of additional state options under Title IV-E of the Social Security Act.

The new service array touches upon every major program area administered by DCBS, including access to K-TAP, Medicaid, child care assistance, and referral to grandparent support groups. For instance, a kin caregiver may accept custody of the child and decide to apply for public assistance programs available to the child, or a kin caregiver may decide to apply as a new child specific foster home or basis foster home. Each DCBS staff person has a role in implementation of this new service array. I call upon you to support these efforts that show our commitment to Kentucky’s families and children.

Thank you for your service to Kentucky’s families and children.

The administrative regulations will undergo their first legislative committee review in April.
Legislative Update

- March 28 was the final day of the 2019 Regular Session. During session, DCBS reviewed 35 pieces of unique legislation directly affecting the department, not counting committee substitutes and amendments. The department's legislative initiatives, including House Bill 158, were passed. Background checks for employees of child-caring facilities had an emergency clause attached rendering it effective upon passage into law; the rest of the passed legislation will become effective at the end of June 2019. DCBS administrative regulations will be amended as necessary to comply with these pieces of legislation.

- Thank you to everyone who contributed to DCBS’ outstanding bill reviews. The bill reviews really did make a difference in whether legislation was amended, passed, or saw no movement.

Self-care is a vital but often overlooked part of professional wellness. This feature offers self-care tips for staff to boost their mood, confidence and self-esteem.

The Beauty of Good Sleep

Sleep is vital to our well-being -- as important as a good diet and proper physical activity. Good sleep can especially help you to manage stress and make better decisions. Here are some tips from the National Sleep Foundation for getting your best rest so you can tackle busy days helping others.

- Make sleep a priority.
- Make your room a sleep haven. Keep it cool, quiet and dark. If you need to, get blackout curtains. Let in bright light in the morning to signal your body to wake up.
- No pills, vitamins or drinks can replace good sleep. Consuming caffeine close to bedtime can hurt your sleep, so avoid coffee, tea, soda and chocolate late in the day so you can get to sleep at night.
- Establish a bed and wake-time and stick to it, coming as close as you can even on the weekends. A consistent sleep schedule will help you feel less tired since it allows your body to get in sync with its natural patterns. You will find that it’s easier to fall asleep at bedtime with this type of routine.
- Don’t eat, drink, or exercise within a few hours of your bedtime. Don’t leave your work for the last minute. Try to avoid the TV, computer and phone for at least an hour before you go to bed. Stick to quiet, calm activities, and you’ll fall asleep much more easily.
- If you do the same things every night before you go to sleep, you teach your body the signals that it’s time for bed. Try taking a bath or shower (this will leave you extra time in the morning), or reading a book.
Public Assistance

- The DCBS-Division of Family Support is in the final stages of securing SNAP EBT Point of Sale devices to be used at the Farmer’s Markets throughout the state. This will allow SNAP recipients to use benefits to purchase locally grown fruits and vegetables. Arranging this option for Kentucky’s SNAP customers is consistent with USDA’s push for healthier uses of SNAP Benefits.
- DCBS has approved extension of the crisis component of the Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP). The program now runs through April 30, 2019. This decision was based on the reality that coldest days of this winter came later in the season, resulting in energy bills for those cold spells arriving closer to spring. The LIHEAP crisis component is designed to assist individuals experiencing a home-heating crises. The program is available to those who are at or below 130% of the federal poverty limit and is delivered by Kentucky’s 23 community action agencies as subcontractors of Community Action Kentucky, Inc. To date, LIHEAP has provided nearly $23 million in energy assistance this fiscal year.
- DCBS has worked closely with Deloitte Digital on the Human Centered Design Concept for SNAP Employment and Training Program (E&T) participants. Human Centered Design Concept is an approach to solving complex non-linear problems by gaining empathy for clients and translating insights into viable solutions while integrating digital experiences. The process starts an immersive generative ethnographic-style of research, incorporating elements of social science geared towards feasible solutions. The design methodology provides various perspectives; ranging from individual to system-wide beliefs. This concept will identify the needs, opportunities, problem areas, motivations, and behaviors of the people that engage with the SNAP E&T program.
- The DCBS Claims Section has been working on intercepts throughout the tax season. This occurs when an individual has become delinquent on a claim and is due to receive either a federal or state tax refund. Through the Claims Section, refunds are intercepted and used as payment toward delinquent claims. If DCBS was unable to intercept state and/or federal tax refunds or other federal payments, there would be many claims that would never be paid, resulting in permanent loss to the agency. Federal and state intercepts accounted for over $3 million last year of the $4.2 million claims payments by clients.
- Public comments were received on 921 KAR 2:055, Hearings and appeals. In response to comment, the administrative regulation was further amended to correct statutory references and clarify terms relating to hearings and appeals, as recommended by the Office of Legal Services. This administrative regulation; 921 KAR 3:060&E, Administrative disqualification hearings and appeals; and 921 KAR 3:070&E, Fair hearings, underwent their first legislative committee review on March 11, 2019. The purpose of the amendments is to make administrative hearing processes for public assistance programs more expedient through the elimination of the optional Appeal Board for Public Assistance. The regulatory amendments are also necessary to address findings from the U.S. Food and Nutrition Service. These administrative regulations will undergo their second and final legislative committee review in April or, if the committee does not meet, will automatically become effective in early May.
- An amendment to 921 KAR 2:015 was filed as an emergency on Dec. 28, 2018, to increase the standard of need in the State Supplemental Program to reflect the 2.8% cost of living adjustment to be implemented in calendar year 2019 by the Social Security Administration for Supplemental Security Income recipients. Public comment was received from Kentucky Division of Protection and Advocacy, and an agency response is currently being drafted to be filed by April 15, 2019.

The administrative regulations are scheduled to go before the first legislative oversight committee in April.

- The new child specific foster home type is scheduled for implementation beginning April 1. This is the second phase of the multi-phased project to provide an enhanced service array to relative and fictive kin caregivers that better matches the state’s high value of said placements. Additional staff training will roll-out in May and June through funding provided under the Federal Fiscal Year 2018 Kinship Navigator Grant.

Child Welfare Transformation

From the Fiscal Modernization Workgroup

- The House Bill 1 study group met on March 1, 2019, and March 22, 2019. Relevant literature was reviewed, and an expert panel discussion was held. The group is slated to hold four more meetings between April 11th and July 1st, the due date for the group’s recommendations. The meetings are facilitated by Chapin Hall. Casey Family Programs is providing additional expertise with process mapping to aid in the group’s deliberations of possible areas of the foster care continuum that could be privatized further.

- DCBS continues to work with the Department for Medicaid Services regarding language for the State Fiscal Year 2020 Managed Care Organization (MCO) contracts and request for proposal for managed care in the next budget biennium, inclusive of one MCO for foster children. This works pairs well and is timed with the decoupling efforts of the foster care rates reimbursed to private child-caring facilities and child-placing agencies.
