Advance Care Planning

Many healthcare professionals report difficulty and lack of training completing advance care plans. This interactive workshop will introduce you to tools to elicit and document these conversations to help ensure patient's wishes are honored in the event they are unable to speak for themselves. You will learn about the history, types of advance care planning tools (including the Living Will and MOST form), creating an advance care plan, and how to bill the Center for Medicaid Services.

Learning Objectives:

- Distinguish advance directives from advance care planning
- Review the development of advance directive law and its impact
- Provide an overview of the types of advance directives
