

The Kentucky Department for Public Health has created this guide to help its residents prepare for the unexpected in the event of a disaster.